Hungry Wizards

Alright, Pinball Fans! Here's your opportunity to show your skill and win a free meal. Beginning Monday, February 4, Grandy's Country Cupboard and Captain D's Seafood will offer a free dinner for each week to the persons who score highest on the Wreck Room Pinball Machines.

The Game Room Attendant will maintain a record of the high score which will be posted on the wall beside each machine. All scores must be witnessed by the attendant. Each week's competition will begin at 8:30 a.m. on Monday and end at 4:00 p.m. on Friday. Winners may claim their Attention!

The finals of the Mens Eight-Ball and table soccer tournaments will be held Monday February 4 at 12:30 in the Wreck Room. Students are invited to watch the final matches. Trophies for the campus champs will be awarded at the conclusion of the match.

free meal certificates from the Student Activities Office on the Monday following each week's competition.

Winners of the weekly Grandy's meal will receive their choice of a complete #1, 2 piece Chicken Dinner, or their Country Fried Steak. Grandy's is located at 480 Mall Blvd. The new Captain D's at 8860 Abercorn Extension will give its winners the choice of any meal in the house. It all begins next week, so stop by the Wreck Room and try your hand at the first Hungry Wizard showdown.

Dixie Daze Dazzles Campus

by Josie Murphy

This Friday, February 1st, the Films and Video Committee will sponsor a presentation of the award winning film "Gone With The Wind." The movie which begins at 7:00 p.m. is part of the "Dixie Daze" which has been the theme of this week's homecoming celebration.

Homecoming week began with a bonfire at 8:00 p.m. in honor of the Running Pirates. Tuesday and today, Wednesday will find the sidewalks covered with sidewalk art around the fountain. Also Inkwell's trivia contest will be held today, check inside for more details. On Thursday, tomorrow, a number of campus organizations will vie for hard bound copies of "Gone With The Wind," in the Civil War Trivia contest at 12:30 in the cafeteria. Check it out and learn some ancient trivia!

Friday will find Jenkins Hall packed at 7 p.m. for "Gone With The Wind." Door prizes will be given. A Vivien Leigh/Clark Gable Look-a-Like contest will also be held during the intermission. There are still a limited number of tickets available, costing 50-cents for students and $1.00 for non-students.

The conclusion of "Dixie Daze" is the big homecoming game at the Civic Center at 8 p.m. with a dance following. The band is the newly formed "Dancer" - previously known as "Time's Square." The band hails from Charlotte, N.C. and will be performing current top 40 and disco hits. Admission is free to all students.

Happy homecoming, ASC.

Protestors Gather

Approximately thirty students gathered outside the Old Student Center on Tuesday, January 29th to protest the Georgia Legislature's proposal to raise the legal drinking age in Georgia to 21 years old.

Armed with such signs as "We can go to war but we can't go to Malones," "Send the Georgia Legislature to Iran," and "We won't fight unless we've got a buzz," the groups attracted the attention of the three local news stations who interviewed the students on their feelings about the legislature's actions.

The marchers, led by Danny Levinson of Pi Kappa Theta fraternity, hoped to prove to the Savannah city officials that they believe this bill is unfair and will be taking away a guaranteed right as a voting citizen. As one marcher commented: "The ASC students realize that they are getting an unfair deal and somebody should know it..."

BOTTOMS UP!

by Andrea Mitchell

"If we can go to war, why can't we go to Malones" was one of the slogans used in last Wednesday's small protest against the proposed bill that will raise the legal drinking age from 18 to 21. And these protestors had a good point. Not only could they not go to Malones but many students couldn't work there either.

At eighteen, most people consider themselves adults. They have the right to make decisions in their own lives. Drinking is one of these rights. This proposed bill will change that. Since when has the Georgia legislature become our parental conscience?

The passage of this bill will affect some Savannah business in numerous ways. Steve Thompson, manager of Malones on River Street says "It's a tragedy that we could be manipulated so easily by the Georgia Legislature." His solution is to start "reform programs for alcoholics and informative programs for young people. A negative law which takes away peoples rights and treats them like children who are not capable of making rational decisions is not the answer."

Some other discos, whose entire business is made up of 18 to 21 year olds, may be threatened with closing their doors. Many restaurants around town can expect a cut back in profits because of the dearth of the 18-21 year olds missing from their range of customers.

Besides rights being taken away and businesses being hurt, the biggest blow the bill will give is to the 18-21 year olds who work at places where liquor is served. They will lose their jobs. There will be several businesses who will have to fire practically their entire staff. Thompson says they "will lose 80% of his staff if the bill becomes a law." This will raise unemployment and keep some from achieving a college education. Many bartenders, waitresses, waiters, bouncers and cashiers depend on this income in working their way through college.

So if you are really concerned with this issue, write our representatives in Congress and our Senators. Write your views not only because you can't go to your favorite bar and have a drink, but for those whose businesses will be hurt and those who will lose their jobs and perhaps their education.

Due To Lack Of Interest

Miss ASC Pageant Cancelled

The Armstrong State College Miss ASC pageant has been cancelled due to the "underwhelming" response to the contest. On January 21st the last day for contestants to apply, the Student Activities office had received a total of three applications. Somehow, Al Harris felt the pageant needed a "few" more entries. Therefore, a unanimous decision was made to cancel the pageant.

The pageant had already been cancelled once last fall due to the same apathetic response. Somehow, it seems that no matter what response the female students could have given -- be it total outrage over such a passe and discriminative event or complete enthusiasm over prancing around the stage in bathing suits -- any response would have to be better than the complete indifference the student body once again has shown to still another opportunity to get the students involved in their college career.

It wasn't as if students did not know the pageant was being held. That excuse just doesn't work anymore! The Student Activities office mailed letters to all the campus organizations, published an announcement in this newspaper, contacted all the people who had signed up last fall, and made flyers which were scattered all throughout the campus. When asked to comment on the cancellation, Al Harris said, "If that's not what the students are interested in, then we need to know what they are interested in."

So get off your indifference and decide what you want on this campus! No one's responsible for the way you react to an event except yourself.

Should The U.S. Boycott The Summer Olympics?

Pro

On your marks, get set, . . . hold it! Hold the track shoes, hold the poll vaults, hold the plane tickets to Moscow — the Summer Olympics in Russia must continue without the United States.

Since the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan, the issue of whether or not the multitude of U.S. athletes should participate in the 1980 Olympics has become a heated debate dividing the country practically in half. The argument presented is that politics should not interfere with sports yet isn't the very nature of the Olympics one big international ego trip? The contest over the best gymnasts, however, seems quite insignificant when compared to what country holds the most endearing values of freedom. And here lies the true reason why the United States must withdraw from the Olympics.

Granted, these American athletes have spent countless hours and dollars training for a goal which is extremely important to them as well as an entire country. However, the cost of freedom is much greater than the money spent by these athletes. And certainly, freedom is much dearer and rarer than a collection of gold medals.

The purpose of the Olympics seems to have become lost somewhere, and the very political interventions people are scorning have existed for years within the guise of "healthy competition." The Olympics originally grew from an idealistic hope that man could join together for political peace—if only for the period of the games. This hope was shattered most recently when guerrilla fighters gunned down innocent spectators and athletes in the bloody seize at the '72 Olympics. To pretend that Afghanistan, Russian invaders, or the awesome fear of communism don't exist, to pretend that these frightening realities are too remote to affect us, is, in itself, a most dangerous game of ignorance. And to ignore the power these Russian invaders have unjustly exercised seems a farce a country such as the U.S. cannot support.

Therefore, any stand the United States takes — whether it is merely to cease exportation of denim jeans, halting grain sales, or simply not entering the Russian boundaries for the Olympic games will demonstrate a torch of freedom which burns more precious than any Olympic flame.

With the United States withdrawal from the 1980 Olympics, the point is raised over whether the U.S. is merely intensifying an already powerful cold war. But the question remains: "Who threw the first snow ball?"

—Josie Murphy

Con

No, politics and sports have nothing to do with each other. The athletes who have trained a lifetime should not be denied their opportunity. Because of the Russian intervention of Afghanistan some feel we should not participate in the Olympics. An athlete who has done nothing but train his or her body for the last few years has nothing to do with this situation. How can you justify robbing an American the goal of a lifetime.

How would you feel if you had spent perhaps three-fourths of your life training for something, with no government subsidy, using your own money, devoting your life to training, giving up almost all of your social life, and then have someone tell you you couldn't go. You could wait four years and try again, if your body and money holds out, and if some younger person doesn't come along and beat you. It is not the role of the athlete to protest political situations. It could not help the situation in any way; it may aggravate it. The political situations of the United States should be handled by the politicians, not the athletes.

In 1936, the Olympics were held in Berlin under the watchful eye of Adolph Hitler. Tension ran high, but the Olympics went on as scheduled. Hitler's theory of racial supremacy received a stunning blow that day from a young black man. His name was Jesse Owens. He won three gold medals in track and field. Hitler refused to shake hands with him.

This type of politics should not be part of the Olympic games, but it always seems to be anyway. The Russians would probably be overjoyed if the U.S. pulled out of the Olympics. We have always been their prime competition. It's just more gold for the Russians. If boycotting the Olympics is a method of protesting the Russian intervention of Afghanistan, what good is it going to do. The Russians don't care. We're only going to hurt ourselves with the action.

The thing to do is to go to Moscow. The United States should go, remembering what Jesse Owens did — and win. Win Big! We can protest in some other way. But the best way is to beat the Russians in every field possible. An athletic loss in their own country is a big threat to Soviet egos. Why don't we do as Olympic high jumper Dwight Stones suggested, go to Moscow, and "bar the Russian athletes when they try to come to the Olympics at Lake Placid." To me this seems a much more sensible answer to the problem.

Antique Closet Opens Doors To The Past

By Andrea Mitchell

Tucked away in the 800 block of Abercorn, there is a small shop called the Antique Closet. You may have noticed the mural on the outside wall which depicts several examples of the clothes of the Antique Closet. Although the mural was destroyed when a truck hit it, the shop is still in business. The owner, Harriet Robertson, has new plans for the mural that was repaired and painted over. A new wall is planned with a different approach toward the shop.

The Antique Closet sells antique clothes. Mrs. Robertson has buyers from all over the country who bring in the clothes. "Every customer is a potential buyer for the store," Mrs. Robertson says. If you have old clothes bring them in. When we visited the shop, Mrs. Robertson was expecting a shipment of high button shoes, furs, and ladies suits (with padded shoulders, a la Joan Crawford).

Harriet Robertson has some definite ideas about fashion. She started wearing antique clothes back in the 50's and hasn't shopped in department stores since. "Fashion is just a turn around of yesterday," she says. The older clothes are made with better material and with more quality. The factories of today can't produce the material with the lasting power of the older clothes.

According to Mrs. Robertson, her shop has four different types of customers and clothes to find. First of all the "middle ground look" which uses antique pieces to accent your clothes. Next is the totally funky look which uses the different eras of clothes that work together and fit your personality. Third is the authentic all-one-era look. This is the putting together of a whole outfit. Mrs. Robertson calls this the "stargazer mood." The fourth phase is the sophisticate which uses the dressier pieces of antiques for everyday wear. High heels, veiled hats, gloves, tuxedo pieces are used in this look.

The Antique Closet also has a small room filled completely with jeans. Every size and every faded shade can be found there. Military wear, which is quite popular these days, is another big item at the closet. Mrs. Robertson also has patterns from the 40's and 50's which she makes copies of and sells for one dollar. (Compare this to the similar clothes in a Vogue pattern book and find a savings of about four dollars.)

The shop is easy to feel at home at. No pushy sales people bother you, but if you want a new look, Mrs. Robertson will help you find it. "I like to get to know my customers and help them find clothes that fit their personality. Your attitude or what's in your head, determines your dress. If you have a dress that cost a million bucks your attitude and how you wear it can make it look like a rag."

Young men are a big part of the closet's clientele. Mrs. Robertson can hand tie bow ties. This brings a lot of dapper young men to her shop. They shop mostly for military items, pleated pants, and skinny ties. Those clothes which have a big price tag in the department stores but little ones at the closet.

The retro look of the past is getting very popular in the bigger cities. Savannah is just beginning this trend. The Antique closet is the place to start.

Greek News To Use

From The Heights Of Mount Olympus

By Susan Cole

Alpha Gam kicked off the intramural basketball season by beating Sigma Kappa 26-6. Our independent team, known as the "Killer Bees" took an upsetting defeat to Pike's Little Sisters 22-18 in overtime. High scorer for Alpha Gam was Amy Grimm.

It seems all the studying we did fall quarter certainly paid off. The pledge class, who are now initiated sisters, had an average of 2.55. The chapter average was 3.0. congratulations to the fifteen sisters who made dean's list.

Three girls were pledged on January 22. The lucky, new Alpha Gams are Angela Anderson, Nancy Shipee, and Kim Richardson. We are very proud of these girls and know they will be an asset to Alpha Gamma Delta. This now brings our chapter total to 38.

On January 26, Alpha Gam took on the WSGA "Boogie Bouncers." All the proceeds of the game went to benefit the Chatham Association for Retarded Citizens.

Plans are already underway for Homecoming scheduled for February 2. Our nominee for homecoming queen is Leesa Bohler. Be sure to get to the polls early and vote for a winner! The float promises to be our best ever — so watch out Greeks!

Sigma Kappa

The sisters and pledges of Sigma Kappa Sorority welcomed new pledgee, Michelle younger, with a wine and cheese party at sister Lisa Thomason's house on Tuesday, January 29.

The sorority would like to extend their deepest thanks to all the students and faculty of ASC for their generous support during the Muscular Dystrophy Fund raising drive. Sister Carola McAfee was able to give the Georgia M.D.A. a great report on Sigma Kappa's efforts this year when she attended a week end convention in Atlanta last week. The total collected on our spare change collection was 62.00. Coupled with the sisters selling tickets to the Fine Arts Concert Series, with total proceeds going to MDA, Sigma Kappa feels they're really helping Jerry's kids. There are future MDA projects in the works, so... watch for it!

The sisters and pledges would finally like to wish the ASC basketball players lots of luck in the Homecoming Game this weekend. We'll be cheering y'all on to victory.

And remember, Sigma Kappas are the sorority girls!!!

Phi Mu

by Karen Meinert

With the new quarter starting Phi Mu has been having rush parties to join in new sisters. After several salad bar parties and a wine and cheese party on Sunday January 20, Phi Mu is proud to announce three new pledges. They are as follows: Barbara Davidson, Kathy Estes, and Ellen Millard. These girls have shown a huge interest in the sorority.

During the basketball season the cheerleaders have been giving points to the organizations with the most spirit. They have passed the "spirit stick" three times and Phi Mu has won it the last two games, on January 14 and 23.

Mixed Nuts

In honor of the arrival of "Gone With The Wind" we prepared a few Mixed Nuts about the movie.

The burning of Atlanta was filmed December 10, 1938, however the principal photography began January 26, 1939 and concluded July 1, 1939.

Hattie McDaniel, who played Mammy, was the first black person to ever win an Academy Award.

The cast was made up fifty-nine leading and supporting characters and 2400 extras.

The Railroad Station Scene was filmed by a camera crane 125 feet plus a 90 foot extension, the whole apparatus, weighing 140 tons. There were 1500 extras plus 1200 dummies representing wounded soldiers. Margret Mitchell's husband remarked upon viewing this scene, "If we'd had that many soldiers, we would have won the war."

The movie used 1,100 horses and 375 assorted pigs, mules, oxen, cows, and dogs.

Medical Students

College students anxious to do their best on the New Medical College Admission Test now have access for the first time to a proven guide for self-managed study. A Complete Preparation for the New MCAT is a 420-page study guide and workbook first developed as part of the Harvard University Summer Health Careers Program. The workbook is made available by Health Professions Educational Service, Inc. of Rockville, Maryland, a not-for-profit organization with special interest in aiding students in educational and career planning for the health professions.

This new MCAT preparation manual contains complete review materials in the fields of human biology, general and organic chemistry, and physics. Special sections are included on development of quantitative and reading skills.

"The best preparation for the New MCAT is good high school and college preparation," according to author James L. Flowers, M.D., M.P.H., "But the workbook is designed to help students prepare most effectively to take the exam."

Dr. Flowers wrote this study guide and workbook while teaching a special review course on the New MCAT for Harvard's Summer Health Careers Program in order to provide students with a truly comprehensive review manual. He now serves as chief resident at the Mt. Sinai Hospital of the University of Wisconsin Medical School, Milwaukee.

Other tips in this comprehensive manual include setting up a study timetable in the weeks and months before the test date and advice on how to achieve your best performance in the testing session.

The content of this book is especially valuable since it is based on essential science curricula and not on old or misleading test questions, according to James L. Angel, President of HPES. A Complete Preparation for the New MCAT is unique not only for its low price, but also for the complete and systematic review of required topics which it provides.

Copies of A Complete Preparation for the New MCAT can be obtained by sending a check or money order for $14.00 each copy (includes shipping and handling charges) to: Health Professions Educational Service, Inc., 11901 Goya Drive, Rockville, MD 20854.

As an additional HPES student service, Dr. Flowers will be presenting several workshops on study and test-taking skills development on college campuses during the coming year. Student groups or colleges interested in information about such a program should write to Director of Educational Service, HPES, 11901 Goya Drive, Rockville, MD 20854.

Contest

To Be Held

The Films Committee will sponsor a Civil War Trivia Contest during the week of Homecoming on Thursday, January 31, in the MCC Cafeteria.

Teams, consisting of four individuals, will be eligible to enter the contest and may sign up in the Office of Student Activities. Each member of the winning team will receive a hardbound edition of Gone With The Wind. Please encourage all your members, or students, to participate.

Also, during the showing of Gone With The Wind on February 1, Jenkins Hall, 7:00 P.M., there will be a Look-A-Like Contest at Intermission for anyone most resembling either Clark Gable or Vivien Leigh. Winners will receive passes to one of Savannah's fine restaurants. Admission is 50 cents for students and $1 for non-students.

Phi Eta Sigma Scholarships

Seniors who plan to work for graduate or professional degrees and who are members of Phi Eta Sigma National Honor Society should get in touch with the faculty adviser, Ms. Jarriel, in Solms Hall, Room 1-5.

National Phi Eta Sigma Honor Society offers twenty-two $500 scholarships this year on the basis of the student's scholastic record, evidence of creative ability, evidence of financial need, promise of success in chosen field, and character. Only members of Phi Eta Sigma are eligible for these gift scholarships.

The deadline for submitting applications is February 15, 1980.

Jo Harper

Named Foreign Faculty Advisor

Jo Harper, assistant professor of English at Armstrong State College, has been named faculty advisor for the college's foreign students.

Ms. Harper, who teaches English and Spanish, has office hours this quarter from 9:30-10:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m., and after 2:30 p.m. by appointment. Her office is in Gamble Hall.

Ms. Harper is available for advisement, problem consultation and scheduling questions to the foreign students on campus.

1980 Placement Interviews To Date

For seniors and alumni the Placement Office has scheduled on-campus recruiting visits by business firms, government agencies, and educational agencies, and professional and graduate schools. Seniors who have not established placement files consisting of a resume' and faculty or employer recommendations should do so this quarter. The Counseling and Placement Office is also available for career counseling, occupational/job information and additional job opportunities.

Interviews are generally held by appointment and it is essential that appointments be made at least one week in advance of the interview date. Schedule appointments at the Counseling and Placement Office, Room 5, Administration Building.

AROUND TOWN

Prize Winning Pianist Featured At Concert

A prize-winning Georgia pianist will perform with the Savannah Symphony Orchestra at a subscription concert on Saturday, February 2, at 8:30 p.m. in the Civic Center's Johnny Mercer Theatre.

Robert Noland of Douglasville, a graduate student and teaching fellow at The Juilliard School, will play Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 9 with the orchestra, under the baton of Christian Badea, music director and conductor.

Mr. Noland is winner of last year's Young Artist Competition sponsored throughout the Southeast by the Savannah Symphony Women's Guild, and he has also recently won first prizes in the New York Young Artists in Recital International Competition and the Mason Hamlin Piano Competition. His Savannah appearance is sponsored by First Bank.

The Savannah Symphony's 1980 Young Artist Competition will be held April 4 at the Civic Center Theatre and is for string instruments only — violin, viola, cello, and bass.

Cash awards totaling $2,000 will be divided among the top three winners, together with the opportunity to perform with the Symphony in concert. Eligible applicants must be between the ages of 16 and 24, and either permanent residents of Georgia, South Carolina, or Florida, or attending college therein.

Deadline for submission of applications is March 1. Complete information and necessary forms may be obtained from Mrs. Naegeli Metcalf, 4709 Springhill Road, Savannah, Georgia 31404.

The February 2 concert will also include works of Gideon Waldrop and Jean Sibelius. For ticket information, phone the Symphony Office, (912) 236-9536 Monday through Friday and on Saturday, February 2, until 3 p.m. After that, limited tickets may be available at the Civic Center Box Office from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m.

Fifteen minutes before concert time, all remaining empty seats go on sale for $3 regardless of location.

Whelan's Wide World Of Intramurals

By Mary Ellen Whelan

Each new season the intramural program grows in the number of teams and participants with this quarter being no exception. No less than 27 teams are vying in intramural basketball competition consisting of five separate divisions. Five teams make up the soccer league while 6 teams compete for the pillow polo title.

In men's basketball action, Pike I fell to the Nads in a close 42-41 victory for the Nads. A 21-18 Pike lead at the half was overcome by the Nads Denny Dotson in the second half. Dotson had 12 in the game. The Nads were defeated by Bam I 45-37 in a later game. Flournoy and Groover led the four man Bam team with a combined 31 points. In another victory for the Bam team Tony Flournoy led the victors to a 50-39 win over the Baseball Bums. The Baseball Bums later captured a win defeating the Tigers 56-36. The Bums Keith Ochs led the game with 16 tallies.

Brent McCullough led the Tigers with 12 to even the Tiger record defeating Bute Bombers in a close game. The Bombers were ahead 14-10 at the halftime horn but bombed out in the end losing 31-27 to the Tiger team. Bam All Stars holds on to a 2-0 record defeating Byte Bombers 59-18. Bams Grant led in that victory with 20 points. In another game Bam defeated the Old Pros 45-30. Pike II defeated PKT 29-27 in a close low-scoring game. Behind 9-6 at the half, Pikes Jodi Douglas helped the victors pull ahead in the second half. Douglas threw in 6 baskets in the game.

Jim Yoder led Skidaway to a 32-24 win over Mother's Finest. In other men's play, the P.E. Club boasts two wins.

The club defeated the Faculty team 58-49. Steve Wheeler led the victors with 15. Joe Roberts scored an impressive 36 points for the Faculty. The P.E. Club also downed Pike in a close 33-31 match.

Brent McCullough led the Old Pros to a second win for the record over the Hollywood Connection 33-16. McCullough had 13 in that game. The Mooseheads posted a 42-26 win over the Coastal Blue Ribbons. Boan led the Mooseheads with 15. The Coastal Blue Ribbons gained a victory over Byte Bombers 35-24.

Turning to women's basketball action, the Pike Little Sisters defeated the Killer Bees in an exciting overtime game. Pikes Sherri Goathe pulled the victors out of a 6-2 halftime slump to pull ahead for a final 23-18 win. Goathe had 12.

In a later game Pike was defeated 20-17 by the Blue Devils. Laurie Remler led the Blue Devils with 13. Amy Grimm led Alpha Gam with 10 to post a 26-6 win over Sigma Kappa. Dental Hygiene ran past Phi Mu 15-5. Also Dental Hygiene romped Sigma Kappa 34-0 in a team effort. Kay Wolfe led the Tigers to a 20-13 victory over the Killer Bees. The Little Tigers upped their record to 2-0 defeating the Blue Devils 34-14. Gluvna and England led the P.E. Club to a 38-6 defeat over Phi Mu.

New Ideas

By Lynda Broussard

Eight devoted members of the Physical Education Department attended a three day workshop at Georgia State University, January 17, 18, and 19th. Coach George Bedwell and Mike Lariscy made the arrangements for the workshop and also went along. Jennifer Roberson and James Davis, two of the majors that went said, "They learned more from the three day workshop about teaching than they learned in the last 3 quarters of college." The workshop included anything from learning how to teach physical education in an enjoyable way to first year crisis of teaching, problems that may arise and how to solve these problems. Harriet Loyd added that, "I never realized there was so many interesting and exciting ways to get in good physical shape."

Along with learning new ideas for themselves, Mike Casidy, James Davis, Amy

Grimm, Coach Bedwell and Coach Lariscy invented a new game that received a standing ovation.

Besides attending the workshop the majors were able to do some sight-seeing at night. Lynda Broussard, Gregg Joffey, Carol Hendry, and Amy Grimm were lucky enough to get tickets to attend the National Ice Skating championship held at the Omni.

GAHPER is putting on another Physical Education Workshop at Jekyll Island, April 16th-20th. All majors are encouraged to attend. These workshops are very educational as well as fun. Any P.E. major that is interested in joining the Physical Education Club at ASC should contact Mike Lariscy. Special thanks from Lynda, Harriet, Amy, Jennifer, Carol, Gregg, James and Mike, go to Coach Bedwell and Mike Lariscy for making the trip possible.

GOLF

Last chance to try-out to be a member of the golf team for spring quarter. If interested contact Coach Larry Tapp before the end of the week.
